WELCOME TO GAELSONG

Midsummer marks the peak of the sun's journey through the year. While we now regard the solstice as the start of summer, in times past it truly marked the midpoint between sowing and harvest. In either view, the midsummer sun calls us to gather outdoors, to observe nature's verdant glories and share its bounty.

At GaelSong, we celebrate the cycles of the seasons as the Celts did, hoping to find closer connections to the natural world. We bring you goods rooted in this tradition, and hope they will inspire and cheer you in the light of each season.
